

Data Driven Criminal Justice Projects Coaching Program
June 29th, 2016

As noted on the Program outline in this session we will meet in smaller groups (what we call PODS) to focus on your project and how it responds to the problem you have defined. All pod folders can be found here. Remember to download the web plug in for Zoom here <https://zoom.us/download>

Basic Logistics: See details and order of participation below

Group A - Mental Health (11:00-12:10) Folder and Recording

Group B - Bail and Recidivism (12:15-1:15) Folder and Recording

Group C - Data sharing/Mental Health and Super Utilizers (11:00-12:00) Folder and Recording

Group D - Planning and Coordination (12:00-1:15) Folder

Sessions this week focus on project pitches. Each team to present for 5 minutes with 5 minutes of feedback and group discussion with the remaining time.

Before The Second Online Pod Session:

Prepare: a 3-5 slide presentation of your project, whom it is designed to help, why it responds to the problem (see theory of change) and why it will help. (Note: we are not focusing on implementation only on the big idea). You can share slides using Zoom's share screen.

Please note that all projects must create a deck.

Goals of Second Online Session

Building on the work done on the problem statement, the goal for this session is to articulate the project and how it is designed to respond to the problem. We are not focusing on the implementation yet, but on the big idea. Your project description will outline the steps by which you plan to achieve your goal, considering risks, and understanding your target audience.

In assessing how the project addresses the problem, consider what is the theory of action. Or, put another way, are you proposing that someone do something new, stop doing something they are doing today, or do something in a different way and why will that have an impact? What are the expected outputs, outcomes and impact? This will help you clarify your priorities, understanding your audience and mapping the steps to bring about change. Try to keep these as action-oriented as possible.

For guests and peers, please help your colleagues improve their projects by pointing out what does and does not make sense or could be improved. Pointers both as to substance and form are useful as teams need both to make the case and to make it persuasively to achieve their goals.

We encourage everyone to provide feedback.

Participation Etiquette

- Groups should log in from the same place
- Time keeping will be key, please respect the time each team will have to participate
- Keep the camera on
- Keep your microphone muted
- Raise your hand (electronically) using the toolbar if you want to talk
- Actively participate on the session by sending feedback
- Use google docs; title docs in a way that we know it's yours; put it in your folder
